COUNTY AND CITY BUDGET DATA

The Tax Levy in the County. Total Amount for Interest, Bonds and Sinking Fund, $65,488.83. County and City to Spend for Schools $112,700. Amount to be Spent for Roads and Bridges.

Those of Sentinel readers who availed themselves of the opportunity to read the County Budget published Sept. 28, by the Board of Supervisors of Grenada County by direction of Chapter 225, Laws of 1922, saw that the total tax levy this year for districts 1, 2, 3 and 4 is 37 mills, only 8 of which is levied by the Legislature of the State.

The levy for district 5, is 35½ mills, but those who reside within the Holcomb Consolidated School district will be assessed 14½ mills additional, which makes the total tax levy for the greater part of district 5, 50 mills, or 5 per cent. The levy for the Gore Springs school district is 12½ mills, making the total levy for property owners in that district 50 mills or 5 per cent.

The citizens living in the Plant school district will pay a total of 44½ mills taxes.

The property owners in Hardy special school district will pay a total of 39½ mills; those living within the Fair Grounds school district will pay a tax of 44½ mills; those living in the Rosebloom consolidated school district a tax levy of 47½ mills and those in the Calvary school district will pay a total of 45½ mills tax.

A study of the County budget and what figures were given by the City of Grenada as to next year's expenditures reveals the following:

That the County—outside of district 5—is to pay interest next year and is to set aside to pay bonds to the amount of $43,100.65; that district 5 is to pay interest outside of its school and set aside for sinking fund $5,971.73; that the Holcomb consolidated school district and the Gore Springs school district are to pay interest and set aside for sinking fund to pay money borrowed for the schools, $1687.20; that the interest and bond tax fund of the City of Grenada is $14,729.25 besides which bonds are to be paid next year to the amount of $10,000 and that the total interest and bonds for the City and the County to be paid next year amounts to $65,488.83. The County budget and the figures given reveal also, that the county contemplates an expenditure for next year for schools $74,900.00 which together with the City budget's for schools amounts to $112,700.00.

The County budget shows further that the road and bridge fund expenditure for the next year amounts for the County outside of the District 5 separate road district $34,000.00 bonds and interest due next year is listed at $25,654.65 which makes a total of $59,654.65 and that the district 5 separate road district lists for roads and bridges and for roads $4379.27, or a total interest and bonds for the County including district 5, for roads and bridges next year of $64,033.92.

Tomorrow, Saturday, Oct. 6, the third distribution of $500 of the total of two thousand dollars in gold which is being given away this year by Grenada merchants will take place in the public square at Grenada. Twenty-five awards will be made, the highest being one hundred dollars and the lowest five dollars. Twenty-eight firms are participating in the plan that makes this distribution possible and each one of them gives a customer one ticket for each dollar cash purchase or payment on account. The distribution will take place about three o'clock tomorrow afternoon. The final awards will be made on Christmas Eve and all tickets are good until the last day. Save your tickets and be on hand when each number is called.

Traveling Men Will Attend Fair

State Secretary Harris Makes Official Announcement. He will Arrive in Grenada Oct. 26.

Official information is given out by the Mississippi Travelers through their secretary, J. Henry Harris of Jackson, that the Grenada Hotel will be headquarters for the Mississippi Travelers during the North Mississippi Fair meet, and that he will arrive on train No. 4, on Friday, October 26, with the Register and that he will then be prepared to register all who desire to join the Mississippi Travelers' Association. Secretary Harris writes enthusiastically about what he expects from the Fair and he states that he knows a great number of the traveling fraternity who expect to attend the Fair. Grenada will give these big hearted men a royal welcome. There are a great many local travelers in Grenada who will no doubt take all necessary steps to see that all who come to Grenada on this occasion get every attention and every possible courtesy.

The coming of these travelers but adds another drawing feature to the Fair Association and serves to show how far reaching the Grenada Fair is.

MISSION AT EPISCOPAL CHURCH

The Rev. Philip G. Davidson, of Greenville to do the Preaching.

The Rev. Mr. R. W. Emerson, rector of All Saints Episcopal church in Grenada, is looking forward to great things from a Mission which is to begin at the morning service at his church next Sunday and to continue through the week. Mr. Emerson is deservedly popular in Grenada and is thoroughly establishing himself in the esteem and the confidence of the community (not only as an effective proclaimer of the truths of God but as a man seriously concerned about the souls of men and of women and as one who goes discreetly about whatever he finds to do.

Mr. Davidson, who is to do the preaching during the Mission, is rector of St. James church at Greenville, and is regarded as one of the ablest clergymen of the Episcopal church in Mississippi. He is very popular, hence the congregation of the Episcopal church in Grenada has every right to expect the most gracious results from the Mission so near at hand.

Announcement is made that the general subject of Dr. Davidson's sermons will be "The Power of God," the greatest subject before humanity, one, however, that, alas too great a number seem to be disregarding. It is also announced that old hymns, familiar to all, will be sung.

Dr. Davidson may be counted on to give some able and convincing pulpit deliverances, and to present the call for a fellowship with God and an acceptance of Christ with such force and power as will make men and women take an inventory of what they have done and of what their heart-life is.

GRENADA AND WATER VALLEY TIE.

Grenada High School football team and Water Valley High played a scoreless tie Friday afternoon on the local field. At the end of the first half, Grenada was within eight yards of the enemy goal, the ball having been carried on a long run by Gammon from a forward pass by Futhey. Grenada outplayed Water Valley all the way through and several times threatened to score. This was the first game of the season and was an exceptionally good one considering the short time the men have been training.

MR. FARR FURTHER RELATES HIS TRAVELS THROUGH EUROPE

Tells of Italian Cities, the Vatican, Greece, the Acropolis, Paris, Catcombs, Egypt, Holland.

(This article is the third telling of Rev. W. E. Farr's trip through foreign lands. The last, which will be published next week, tells of the Holy Land.)

ITALY.
Milan is a city of 900,000 people. In this city is located what is said to be the greatest cathedral on earth. As you walk into its auditorium you view fifty-two marble columns twelve feet in diameter and three hundred and fifty-five feet high. All of its windows are memorial and made of the classiest material. The fact is that this cathedral is one of the wonders of the world in Gothic style. It contains over two hundred marble statues and some of the best paintings of the world. They were six hundred years building it and spent many millions of dollars on its construction.

THE VATICAN.
There are eleven thousand rooms in the Vatican; there are fifty-four inner-courts; twenty-four thousand statues; they have an Egyptian manuscript which they claim dates B. C.

In my judgment one of the greatest paintings they have is a picture of Christ; another great picture is where John is baptizing Jesus in the river Jordan; the guide stating as he was explaining it, "Now, gentlemen, you remember that we Catholics used to immerse altogether." Another great picture is The Last Judgment. St. Peter's Church, which joins on to the Vatican, is over six hundred feet long and was under construction over two hundred years; it is one of the three largest in the world. From the ground floor to the top of the dome there are eleven hundred steps in the stairway. We were told over eight hundred million dollars had been spent on the Vatican and this church. When you remember that and then call to mind that almost under the dome of this church there are thousands of half clad, starving Italians, your soul rebels against the whole affair.

We visited the Coliseum where Ben Hur played; where hundreds of thousands gathered in the times before Christ to witness the fights and games of the day. Over half of this building yet stands, giving you a good idea of its wonderful construction.

THE CATACOMBS.

Of course you immediately recall that the Catcombs are under the ground twenty-two miles long. In going through you feel some ghosts about you, for in here in little sections on each side of the passageway the people were buried. This dates back before Christ. As you go along you see bones and then some more bones and then piles of bones. As he visits these places one is reminded of the fact that everything is dated B. C. We went to dinner and I ordered soft boiled eggs and cheese; the eggs were B. C. and the cheese Catcombed.

We drove over the old Appian Way. It begins at Rome and ends at Brindies, Italy. All along the roadside for miles still stand some sections of it. Our guide took us to the place where he said Nero fiddled and watched certain sections of the city burn. We stood among the ruins of one of the old temples and were shown the place where Paul was tried. Will ask you as a reader of this article, to turn to Acts, 24th chapter, beginning with the 24th verse and reading through the 25th chapter. Here you will find one of the greatest arguments ever made before a Supreme Court.

NAPLES.

The second city in Italy, numbering nearly 900,000 people. The first morning we were there we noticed in many sections of the streets that women and children were milking goats and camels along with a few cows, feeding and milking them on the sidewalks. They stay on the

soon as we could get a train and went out to Vesuvius, which we could see from the streets of Naples. After reaching the summit and standing by the crater, looking down into the mouth of Vesuvius, hearing it belch and watching its smoke curl into the air, I said to the crowd that I knew there was a hell, for there was the smoke stack. We were shown a city which is now being dug up that in 1906 was destroyed by Vesuvius boiling over. The city was buried from five to twenty feet by this eruption. Then we went to Pompeii, the city that was destroyed and left buried for 1,760 years. Now you can visit the old castles and other ruins, showing that at the time of the destruction of Pompeii there were some of the greatest palaces and public buildings that the world has ever known. Here are a few things that were found:

A bed room showing the beds with father, mother and four children that were buried and petrified; another, with every indication that he was a very prominent man, showing him with his slave who died by his side, as they were evidently trying to escape; there is also a dog, and then there is a man who had climbed a tree; the tree and the body of the man are petrified. Every evidence in the world goes to prove that this was one of the most modern cities ever known; two miles of streets of palaces; great theater buildings with a seating capacity of five thousand plus; five public bath houses, and other evidences that are conclusive as to why God destroyed the city, which are unnameable.

BRINDISI

From here we sailed the Mediterranean Sea on the ship Vienna, landing at Alexandria, Egypt, after a very quiet and beautiful voyage. The city of Alexandria has over 200,000 people and is very modern. In Cairo, Egypt, a city of 900,000 souls, 150,000 of them are Europeans. We visited the Egyptian Museum where there are many things to be seen. They date back four to six thousand years B. C.; some of King Tut's treasures. It was our privilege also to visit the River Nile and see the place where Moses was put in the bulrushes. We visited the Pyramids, four hundred and fifty-one feet high; the Sphinx, twenty feet high, which was put up in five sections. We went to the Mosque. When we reached the door our shoes were removed and clean slippers put on our feet before we were permitted to go inside. The natives have wash their feet at the fountain which is just in front of the entrance. There are over five hundred electric lights in this auditorium; the dome is said to be one of the most beautiful in the world; the carpet on the floor one of the most costly; all the inside work is of the finest marble. There were eight acres of ground that cost millions of dollars.

There are three of these mosques. One for everybody; one a place for tourists to visit, and one for kings and princes alone; into this we were not invited.

The soil in Egypt, at least between Alexandria and Cairo and all that section, reminds one of the rich delta of Mississippi. There are wonderful cotton crops. The natives live in mud houses and are not at all inviting in appearance. When the young women become engaged to be married they wear a white veil; after they are married they wear a black veil and black clothes, and a collection cup on their noses.

The natives, especially in the cities of Alexandria and Cairo, worry the very life out of you for tips. Ask one of them a question and a dozen are at your side, all wanting the circle of his acquaintance and

Veterinarians Meet During Fair

Grenada to Entertain Association During Fair Week. Another Big Drawing Card for the Meet.

Among the distinguishing things to take place at the North Mississippi Fair Association to be held at Grenada October 23-27 is the meeting of State Veterinarian Medical Association. Dr. W. P. Ferguson, local veterinarian, is looking after every detail. The Doctor's middle name is Prince, and it is appropriate, he can be counted on to do the princely thing about all matters. The coming of the State Veterinarians to Grenada is not only a high compliment to Doctor Ferguson but a compliment to Grenada as well. The Association is to meet October 24, and to remain in session through the 26th, and those in charge of the arrangements for the meeting are planning to make it the best and the most memorable in the history of the Association. Besides having an opportunity to see the great Fair, automobiles will carry the delegates over the town and to Glenwild plantation. No doubt one of the most interesting institutions to the professional veterinarian will be the Serum plant. The annual banquet will be one of the very interesting features of the Association's meet.

RAILROAD EMPLOYEE INJURED BY SWITCHING TRAIN.

B. E. Martin, aged 39, head car inspector in the Grenada yards of the Illinois Central Railroad Company, had his left foot mangled and his right hand badly crushed Tuesday morning about 8:30 o'clock, while doing some minor repair work on the coupling between two freight cars in the I. C. yards. Three fingers of his hand were amputated by local surgeons. A special train was immediately made up and he was rushed to a Memphis hospital for surgical attention. His wife and one child and the local I. C. surgeon accompanied him to Memphis for treatment. Two other children remained at home. It is expected that his foot will have to be amputated but no fatal results are looked for unless blood poison develops.

Mr. Martin and another inspector, M. V. Rampey, were at work together and were unaware that a local freight train was switching in the yards. Mr. Rampey escaped unhurt.

PLANTERS HOTEL IN CHARGE OF "PRINCE OF WALES."

Charles B. Hoffa is Manager. A Very Popular Man, European Plan.

Mr. Charles B. Hoffa, variously called the "Prince of Wales," "Uncle Charley" and sometimes "grandpa," has returned from Denver and taken over the management of the Planters Hotel in Grenada.

The hotel will be conducted on the European plan. Meals can be had at the Grenada Hotel or at some of the cafes of Grenada. This is one of the best hotels in North Mississippi and the traveling public may rest assured that Mr. Hoffa will do everything possible to add to the attractiveness of the hotel and to make its guests comfortable. Guests may confidently expect the "Prince" to be ever accommodating and cheerful and to make those who remain long enough to get to know him feel that they dislike to leave and that they will be glad to get back just as soon as possible.

Mr. Hoffa is a Grenada County product, being brother of that well known and popular citizen, W. B. Hoffa. He has been characterized as one of a radiant disposition—he was that way as a boy—and as one ever ready to do any one a good turn.

After leaving Grenada he went to Memphis where he was in the employ of some of the large business concerns of that city, later he went on the road and traveled Mississippi and other sections where he enlarged the circle of his acquaintance and

BISHOP MEETS PRESIDING ELDERS

Bishop Ainsworth Makes Address at College in Which He Shows the Power of Heredity and Environment but Says Controlling Force is Purpose in the Heart. The Marriage to a "Millionaire."

Bishop W. N. Ainsworth of the Methodist church convened a meeting of the presiding elders of the North Mississippi Conference at Grenada Monday for the purpose of a sort of final round-up before the meeting of the annual conference, Nov. 7, at Greenville. Bishop Ainsworth seems to have left nothing undone to get intimately in touch with the work of the Methodist church in every charge in his conference. In the early days of the year, a general meeting was had in Jackson which was attended by the presiding elders and many of the leading laymen throughout the State and it was there that the details of the work for the year were laid out, and the Bishop appears to be kinder camping with the presiding elders to see that nothing is left undone to accomplish what was set out to be done.

He delivered a very helpful address to the students of Grenada College that afternoon in which he showed the power and the effects of heredity, but said the Bishop, "that is not all." He then discussed environment and showed what association and surroundings have to do with shaping one's life. He admonished the young ladies to be exceedingly careful in forming their friendships, yet said the Bishop, "this is not all nor is it the most important." He told his hearers that it was the purpose in every human life and the relationship with God that was the determining factor in creating one's destiny and that fixed the measure of one's success.

In seeking to make plain what he said, the Bishop said, "May I tell you a story which is a window through which I hope you may see what I am trying to tell you." He said that he once heard of a very popular Virginia young lady who had a wedding announcement when told to her friends the news of her approaching marriage. The young lady said she was "going to marry a millionaire." In due time the wedding was celebrated and the bride with her husband went to one of the leading cities. Ere long the friends back home found that the couple were living in a very simple apartment house and that the husband was in the employ of a certain firm in the city. In due time, the young lady paid a visit to her parents. "Her disappointment," the Bishop said, had of course preceded her; "everybody" was talking about it, the sexton had got hold of it and he had told the church bell, the Bishop said, and that the bell had carried the news. So while the bride was at home, one of her very close friends took the liberty of mentioning that she appreciated the disappointment that must have come to her when she found that her husband was not a millionaire, but to this the lovely young wife answered, "Oh, I understood me when I said I was a millionaire; I was not talking about money, I had rather he be what he is, a millionaire in character, and not worth a dollar but worth a million and no character worth a dollar."

The Bishop was pleasing he said. At times he was a stout, just enough to add to the thought he was trying to leave with the young ladies, vigorous and is an able man bound to impress one as being seriously concerned about the work committed to him.

where he made legions of friends. Thus it may be said that there could hardly be one whose return to Grenada he more generally pleases whose entry into the home would be more gratifying to traveling men.

LESSON FOR OCTOBER 7

ABRAHAM, A BLESSING TO THE WORLD

LESSON TEXT—Gen. 12:1-3; 18:17-18; 22:15-18.

GOLDEN TEXT—"In Thee shall all families of the earth be blessed."—Gen. 12:3.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Being a Blessing to Others.

JUNIOR TOPIC—A Man Who Became a Blessing to the World.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Abraham, a Religious Pioneer.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Abraham, a Religious Pioneer.

I. Abraham's Ancestors (Josh. 24:2, 14).

Abraham's people were idolaters. Very likely as a young man, he himself worshiped idols. Tradition furnishes us with some interesting stories touching his struggle against idolatry. At any rate, his experience was such as to well qualify him to be the head of a people whose God was the Lord. He knew how hopelessly disastrous idolatry was to the morals of the people, and, therefore, would be able to lead them back to God.

II. Abraham's Call (Gen. 12:1, cf. Acts 7:2-3).

God came to him in Ur of the Chaldees and said unto him:

1. "Get thee out of thy country." One is tied to his country with a strong bond. Abraham had lived long enough to have formed strong attachments to his country.

2. "Get thee out from thy kindred." Abraham was not only to leave behind him his native land, but his relatives as well, even his father's house. Since his kindred were idolaters, he must leave them. Abraham was to become a pilgrim, to be without a home. Even in Canaan, the only land he ever owned, was a burial place.

3. "Into the land that I will show thee." He was not told what or where the land was. He went out not knowing whither he went (Heb. 11:8). While he dwelt in tents during his earthly sojourn, yet "he looked for a city which hath foundations whose builder and maker is God" (Heb. 11:10). And thus he was a typical believer called out from his family and country, and renouncing idolatry, he walked by faith, testifying to his and succeeding generations to the faithfulness of God. It costs to obey God, but there is an abundant recompense.

III. God's Promise to Abraham (Gen. 12:2-3; 18:17-18).

1. The Father of a Great Posterity (v. 2). This has been literally fulfilled. He was not to go out primarily for what he could get, but for what he could do. The minister and missionary forget their own personal blessings in the supreme joy of their converts who are the fruits of their labor. No name in all history equals that of Abraham in its honorable influence. His is the name of honor among Jews, Mohammedans and Christians. They all acknowledge him as father.

2. A Blessing to Others (vv. 2, 3). He was not only to become great and to share God's blessings, but to be a blessing to others. He has become a blessing to countless multitudes. This is the prevailing law of the spiritual life—being blessed to be a blessing. Those who respond to this law become the very touchstone of God, so precious that God will bless them who bless them, and curse those who curse them. God makes common cause with His people. So vitally is He one with them that it is a serious thing to mistreat them. To maltreat God's children is to lift the hand against God. No one who goes against Him can prosper. Not only is this so with reference to wilful acts against His children, but neglect or refusal to do good to them. Christ regards all acts for or against them as for or against Him.

IV. God Testing Abraham (Gen. 22:1-18).

Abraham's faith was shown in that he obeyed the call of God and left his land and kindred, but his faith reached its highest point in offering Isaac. For many years, he had waited for the fulfillment of God's promise as to his heir. At last that promise was a reality. Abraham's hope was not the ordinary hope which fills the heart of every father, that his name and work may be perpetuated through his son. A new nation and the world's Savior were to spring up from Abraham through this son. Through this great ordeal, his faith responded enabling him to believe that God would give Isaac back from the dead (Heb. 11:17-19). God tries all His children. The more important, the more severe the trial.

LESSON FOR OCTOBER 14

ISRAEL, A MISSIONARY NATION

LESSON TEXT—Exod. 19:1-6; Isa. 43:9-11; Isa. 45:20-22.

GOLDEN TEXT—"Ye shall be unto me a kingdom of priests and an holy nation."—Exod. 19:6.

PRIMARY TOPIC—God's Kindness to His People.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Why God Chose Israel.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—The Mission of the Chosen People.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Israel's Missionary Call.

I. Israel's Exalted Position (Exod. 19:1-6).

The descendants of Abraham had now become a multitude and the time had come to organize them into a nation. In order to enable them to see what a wonderful privilege was theirs, God displayed His majesty on Mount Sinai. In His message to them, He gave them a look backward and forward.

1. A Review of Their Past History (v. 4). He reminds them of what He had done to the Egyptians when He brought them out of their cruel bondage, and that His divine care over them had been as that of an eagle over her young. He had not merely brought them out of Egyptian bondage, but unto Himself. God's salvation is not merely deliverance from sin, but a union with Himself.

2. Promises of Future Greatness (vv. 5, 6). On condition of obedience to His voice, and faithfulness to their covenant obligations, He promised them a peculiar relationship to Him. This relationship is three-fold:

(1) The Lord's Peculiar Treasure Above All People. This is the treasure of Matt. 13:44. If this is recognized, the parable is quite clear. Failure to allow Scripture to interpret Scripture results in confusion.

(2) A Kingdom of Priests. "A Kingdom whose citizens are all priests living wholly in God's service and ever enjoying the right of access to Him." In this kingdom there is united sacerdotal privilege and royal dignity.

(3) A Holy Nation. A nation set apart for the work of God. Realizing this, they would be impelled to a standard of living which would be worthy of their high calling. Separation from sin and a positive stand for the right would always be demanded. The failure of this chosen nation is largely the explanation of the world's distress. Had Israel shown the nations the way to go, they would not have gone so far into sin.

II. Israel's Pressing Obligation (Isa. 43:9-11).

1. God's Challenge to the Heathen Nations (v. 9). They were asked to assemble their witnesses to see if they were able to make known the future as God had done through the prophets of Israel. They are either to make good their predictions or to acknowledge the truth as declared by God's prophets, namely, that God is the only God.

2. Israel, God's Witness (v. 10). This nation had been brought so clearly into touch with God, had so many times experienced His mighty hand to deliver, that they were competent witnesses. Not only the nation was a witness, but the prophets from that nation had so many times witnessed and their predictions were so completely fulfilled that the whole world knew that God was the one and only God and Savior. The only way the world can know that God is a forgiving God is through the witnessing of His redeemed people. How sorely this testimony is needed! How miserable has been Israel's failure!

III. Israel's Message (Isa. 45:20-22).

The message which Israel was to give was that God was the Savior of all the nations. Israel misinterpreted and misapplied this message. They claimed Him as their God and denied Him to the heathen. Though they have thus failed and the world is in darkness because of it, one day they shall go to the ends of the earth with it, and the result will be the ushering in of the Golden Age of which men of all ages have dreamed.

1. The Idolatrous Nations Are Invited to Draw In.

2. They Are Challenged to Bring Their Reasons for Worshipping Idols in the Light of the Fact That God the Savior Was the Only God.

3. They Are Given an Invitation to Look Unto God. They were not asked to do something to be saved, but to look to the Savior. Sinners today need only to look to Christ. What a wonderful day when Israel shall declare this message to all nations in the power of the Holy Spirit!

God's Promise.

God hath promised pardon to him that repenteth, but he hath not promised repentance to him that sinneth.—St. Anselm.

Friendship.

Friendship is the nearest thing we know to what religion is. God is love.—Henry Drummond.

A Fool's Cost.

A fool may have his coat embroidered with gold, but it is a fool's coat still. Riviere.

BACKACHES NOW IN THE DISCARD

Mrs. Cummins Declares Stella Vitae Relieved Her Sufferings.

"Before taking Stella Vitae my back hurt so I thought it would nearly kill me, but now that backache is in the discard and I can't tell you how happy I feel," recently said Mrs. Jeannie Cummins, a resident of Marks, Miss.

"About six years ago I was taken with a backache that just stayed with me night and day. I got so weak and rundown I couldn't stay on my feet to do my work. My nerves were all torn to tatters and the least little thing would make me shake and tremble like I had a chill."

"After taking Stella Vitae I feel like a new woman. I am now the happy mother of three children and can't praise Stella Vitae enough for getting me over my troubles."

Stella Vitae may be obtained from any druggist and the purchase price will be refunded if it fails to bring relief.

"GIVE US THIS DAY OUR DAILY BREAD."

Father, listen to my asking,
Furnish me today with bread—
Bread to scatter o'er each pathway
That my feet today may tread,
Give me kindness and compassion,
Give me voice a tender tone;
Give me bread for others, Father;
Let me give to none a stone.

Hearts do hunger, O, my Father,
Hungry hearts I yearn to feed,
But I know Thou hast sufficient
To supply each human need;
Give me bread for some heart, Father
Whose great hunger Thou canst see
Let me carry some prayer's answer—
Send the answer, Lord, through me.

Give me smiles for the neglected,
Recognition for the old,
Who while they much warmth are needing
Are left outside in the cold;
Let me warm them with affection,
With a flame of holy love,
Kindled by a spark sent earthward
From the tenderness above.

Listen, Father, to my asking;
Let me Thy co-worker be,
Let me help the needs of others,
Trusting all my needs to Thee;
Give, that I may be the giver,
Give, dear Lord, for Jesus' sake,
For, if I would give right freely,
From Thee I must freely take.

Father, listen to my asking,
Give me daily from Thy store,
Give me daily bread from Heaven
Till my hands can hold no more,
Give me, dear Lord, bread for others,
Comfort, pity, love divine;
And to Thee be all the glory
While the great thanksgiving's mine. Author Unknown

HIGHER PRICES FOR PRODUCTS UNDER DEMOCRATS

Washington, D. C. Oct. 2.—Comparative figures published by the Department of Agriculture show that many of the principal agricultural products of this country brought higher average prices July 15 of each of the eight years of the last two Democratic administrations than at the same season during the present Republican regime. At the same time, the farmer's dollar during the Wilson administrations was worth from 27 to 36 cents more than it is now.

On July 15, 1923, (when the farmer's dollar was worth 100 cents compared with 69 cents now,) hogs were selling at $7.81 a hundredweight, against $6.68 on July 15, 1923. The prices of hogs on July 15 of the years 1914, 1915, 1916, 1917, 1918, 1919, and 1920, respectively, were $7.72, $6.84, $8.40, $13.35, $15.58, $19.22 and $13.65 a hundredweight.

On July 15, 1913, beef cattle were selling at $5.98 a hundred pounds. On July 15, 1923, the price of beef cattle was $5.72 a hundredweight. The prices of beef cattle on July 15 of the years 1914, 1915, 1916, 1917, 1918, 1919 and 1920, respectively, were $9.96, and $8.93. Milk cows sold at $54.80 a head on July 15, 1913. They were bringing $56.22 on July 15, 1923. But on that date in the years between 1913 and 1920—during the last Democratic administrations—the prices ranged from $59.67 to $94.51. Horses brought $143 a head on July 15, 1913. They were selling for $85 a head on July 15, 1923.

Farmers got 77.1 cents a bushel for their wheat on August 1, 1913. The price of wheat on August 1, 1923, was 84.2 cents—payable in a 69-cent dollar. In 1915 and 1916, respectively, wheat sold for $106.5 and $107.1. This was before the price was guaranteed. On August 1, 1920, the price was $2.32 a bushel.

The dollar that the farmer received for his products in 1913, 1914, 1915, 1916, 1917, 1918, 1919 and 1920 was worth for these respective years, 100 cents, 105 cents, 103 cents, 97 cents, 107 cents, 112 cents, 112 cents, and 96 cents. In 1921 the farmer's dollar had a purchasing power of 84 cents and of 89 cents in 1922. It is now worth but 69 cents.

During all of the two Wilson administrations there was no tariff on wheat, hogs or pork products, beef cattle or the other principal items of agricultural produce. The Republicans have since "protected" all of these. At the same time the manufacturers controlled by heavy duties. The farmer's "protection" is worthless to him, but the exorbitant tariff on the commodities he has to buy is collected from him. That's why—to quote Senator Capper of Kansas, who supported the Fordney-McCumber law—the farmer must pay for other men's goods "$1.31 for every dollar's worth he needs and sells them $1.31 worth for every 100 cents they give him."

These groups of stockholders illustrate the rapid growth in ownership of the Bell System.

A COMMUNITY OF OWNERS NATION WIDE

"Who owns the company?" "What is behind it?" These questions are asked in appraising the soundness of a business and in determining its aims.

The American Telephone and Telegraph Company is owned by more than 270,000 people living in every state in the Union. Could the stockholders of the Bell System be gathered to one place, they would equal the population of a city about the size of Providence or Denver.

They constitute a representative cross-section of American citizenship. Among them, of course, are bankers and men of large affairs; for the idea of ownership in the Bell System appeals to sound business judgment and a trained sense of values.

In this community of owners are the average man and woman, the storekeeper, the clerk, the salesman, the professional man, the farmer and the housewife—users of the telephone who with their savings have purchased a share in its ownership. The average individual holding is but twenty-six shares.

No institution is more popularly owned than the Bell System, none has its shares distributed more widely. In the truest sense it is owned by those it serves.

DORROH-NABERS

The home of Prof. John Rundle was the scene of a pretty wedding Thursday afternoon at four o'clock when his sister, Miss Lesley Nabers, became the bride of Mr. George D. Dorroh, of Jackson, Miss. Rev. R. A. Tucker, of the Methodist Church, officiated in a most impressive way, the double ring ceremony being used.

The living room was beautifully decorated for the occasion, presenting a view of autumn glory. Stately ferns and baskets of Lady Millicent daisies formed a beautiful setting for the wedding. Southern smilax and filmy tulle were gracefully entwined on a white trellis under which the couple stood.

Miss Margaret Moody, becomingly attired in a georgette frock of pastel shades, presided at the piano.

The bride and groom entered together. The bride was lovely in soft brown crepe with accessories to match and carried a bouquet fashioned of bride's roses and valley lilies.

Immediately after the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Dorroh left for Memphis to spend a few days before going on to Jackson to make their future home.

Mr. Dorroh is a member of one of the most prominent families of the State. He has made a good record both in college and since he entered business, and now that he is about ready to enter the legal profession, it can safely be said that he will acquit himself with credit. He is a young man of fine character and is worthy of the fine young woman who has given him her heart and her hand.

Mrs. Dorroh is a sister of the late Mrs. John Rundle. She is gracious of character; modest in demeanor and is well educated and better still, she is trained in those domestic arts which are so essential in the good wife and keeper of a home. She can be counted on to perform her part of the marital contract and to leave nothing undone that will contribute to the real success of the man of her choice.

WOODS-ATKINSON

Mr. Hamilton Woods and Miss Allie May Atkinson were married last Sunday afternoon at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Atkinson, near Holcomb, the ceremony being performed by Rev. W. F. Rogers, pastor of the Methodist Church at Holcomb.

Mrs. Woods is a charming and gracious young woman. She has since early childhood received that training that now admirably fit her for the duties she has assumed as wife and helpmeet. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Woods, who live in the Chapel Hill neighborhood near Redding, and is a young man of dependable character and many commendable traits. He is now employed in Greenwood where he and his lovely bride will make their home.

McILVAIN-TRUSSELL

At 11 o'clock Monday morning, Rev. W. E. Farr joined in holy wedlock, Mr. A. L. McIlvain of Rosedale and Miss Annie Belle Trussell, the ceremony taking place at the minister's home on Third Street.

Mr. McIlvain is an industrious, trustworthy young man in the employ of the Gayoso Lumber Co. He comes of a good family and can be relied upon to love and care for the lovely young woman, the daughter of Mrs. Mollie Trussell, who has committed her destiny to him.

McCAULLA-GANT

On last Saturday, Sept. 29th, marriage vows were said between Mr. T. W. McCaulla and Miss Lucile Gant, Rev. H. G. Roberts, pastor of the Methodist church at Tie Plant, officiating. The groom is the son of W. M. McCaulla, a well-known and highly respected citizen of Grenada County, while his bride is a native of Carroll County and comes of a splendid family. The happy couple expect to make their home on Mr. McCaulla's plantation, about five miles southwest of Grenada. The Sentinel wishes the bride and groom every happiness.

HUBBARD-KOONCE

On last Thursday evening, Sept. 27, at nine o'clock at the home of Mrs. Mollie Trussell in Grenada, Miss Lola Koonce was united in marriage to Mr. A. C. Hubbard, the ceremony being performed by Rev. W. E. Farr, pastor of the First Baptist Church.

The bride is a splendid young woman and is a member of one of Grenada County's best families, being the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Koonce of near Graysport. The groom is employed by Geo. C. Brown and Co. and is recognized by his employers as being a young man who can be depended upon.

PLANS THAT MISSISSIPPIANS MIGHT FOLLOW

What Has Built Up and is Still Building North Carolina.

The Asheville Citizen, published at Asheville, N. C. contained the following editorial in one of its recent issues under the caption, "Sure Foundations of Progress." There is much in the editorial that would apply to any state and especially to Mississippi. Now that the election is over and the people are ready to interest themselves in something else besides the fortunes of aspirants for office, The Sentinel commends a careful perusal of what the North Carolina editor said, and possibly a careful survey of what other states are doing will throw light on Mississippi's problems and on what Mississippi is able to do and what she has not the financial ability to do:

"Recent debates over North Carolina's financial condition have probably frightened some Tarheels into the belief that the State is becoming a spendthrift. There may be fear that while the objectors of good roads, better schools and adequate hospital facilities are excellent the price threatens to be bankruptcy. Therefore it is important to learn what outside observers find in the life of this state. A more competent witness than The Manufacturers Record would be hard to find; its testimony is as follows:

"One of the reasonseastern bankers were so tremendously impressed with North Carolina is that during the greater part of the last 25 years North Carolina Governors have concentrated their full energies upon the material and educational advancement of the State. Governor Morrison is following a long succession of Governors who, in the main with a broad vision of what could be achieved, untiringly in every way possible, at home and abroad told the story of North Carolina's resources and attractions. Many other Southern States have been unfortunately cursed with governors who were more interested in rotten politics and in their own political advancement than in the material welfare of their States."

"The gubernatorial office of North Carolina has the broadest and best sense been an office for the promotion of the education and business interests of North Carolina.

"The gubernatorial office in many other Southern States has often been used merely for the purpose of promoting the political activity of picaresque politicians and their States are today suffering as a result.

"With all of its superb advantages North Carolina is fully matched in natural resources, in climate, in soil, in minerals and in timbers, by many other States in the South, but North Carolina leads some of these States by a thousand miles, because it has had public men consecrated to the welfare of the State rather than to dirty politics and to their own advancement.

"When every State in the South will put into the gubernatorial office such men as some of North Carolina's Governors have been, and as Governor Morrison is, they will be awakened to their limitless possibilities.

"No one who stops to think would interpret a dispute over book-keeping as proof of fiscal chaos in North Carolina. Those who may have been led into doubts of the State's solvency should ponder what The Record says about North Carolina resources and especially about its assets of unselfish leadership. For twenty-five years the State has been led by men whose great ambitions were to push their State farther into the front lines of commonwealth achieving things worth while in the name of better civilization. There must, of course, be sound business management to carry out such ambitions, but the material wealth of North Carolina is more than sufficient to any demands yet made upon it for these purposes. There is no danger of a breakdown in North Carolina progress unless the people should become frightened and place their affairs in the hands of small-visioned politicians."

Inactive Liver

"I have had trouble with an inactive liver," wrote Mrs. S. Nichols, of 4412 Spencer St., Houston, Texas. "When I would get constipated, I would feel a light, dizzy feeling in my head. To get up in the morning with a lightness in the head and a trembly feeling is often a sign that the stomach is out of order. For this I took Thedford's Black-Draught, and without a doubt can say I have never found its equal in any liver medicine. It not only cleans the liver, but leaves you in such a good condition. I have used it a long time, when food does not seem to set well, or the stomach is a little sour."

The Year of Thrift

This year marks the anniversary of the establishment of the first savings bank in the United States.

In commemoration of this centennial, bankers' organizations are speeding up the thrift movement.

Strangely enough, this effort comes at a time when national progress in commerce and industry depend on the people's power to save.

No longer can America draw on the savings of the thrifty people of Europe for capital with which to develop its resources.

From now on the United States must produce its own capital.

An account in a savings bank insures national progress and your own independence.

COULD CHASTISE UNRULY WIFE

Judge E. R. Holmes gave a very interesting review of the history of the federal court of Mississippi before the last meeting of the Mississippi Bar Association, a history which began with the establishment of the first federal court in the State known as Judge Holmes said, as "the Mississippi district."

Up to the appointment of Judge Holmes, there had been seven federal judges, they were: W. B. Shields, Peter Randolph, both appointed by President Monroe; Powhatan Ellis and George Adams, both named by President Jackson; Samuel J. Gholson, named by Van Buren, served from 1839 to 1861 when he resigned to enter the Confederate service. From January 1861 to May 1, 1866, there was no federal judge in the State. Judge Robert A. Hill was appointed by President Johnson May 1, 1866, and he served until his voluntary retirement, August 1, 1891. President Harrison appointed Judge H. C. Niles August 11, 1891, and he remained on the bench until his death September 26, 1918. Judge Holmes was named as his successor a few weeks thereafter.

Judge Powhatan Ellis above referred to was at one time a member of the Supreme Court of Mississippi, and Judge Holmes brings forward an interesting bit of history in connection with his service on the supreme bench wherein it is shown that the Judge rendered an opinion in the case of Bradley vs. The State, holding that a man was within his legal rights in punishing with a rod an unruly wife provided the instrument of torture was a switch or frail no larger than a man's thumb.

In this day of advancement and of "woman's rights," it takes a wide stretch of the imagination to think that a Mississippi Judge ever subscribed to the doctrine of "wife beating." The Judge was a bachelor and it might have been that disappointment had vinegared his mind against the gentler sex. The case is reported page 158 1st. (Walker's) Mississippi reports, and affirmed the conviction of the husband for assault and battery upon his wife. Judge Ellis said:

"If the defendant now before us could show from the record in this case, he confined himself within reasonable bounds, when he thought proper to chastise his wife, we would deliberate long before an affirmation of the judgment. To screen from public reproach those who may be thus unhappily situated, let the husband be permitted to exercise the right of moderate chastisement, in cases of great emergency, and use salutary restraints in every case of misbehavior, without being subjected to vexatious prosecutions, resulting in the mutual discredit and shame of all parties concerned."

We wish we had the space to give Judge Holmes' address in full. It gives much contemporaneous history while reviewing federal court history. The Judge performed a distinct public service in what he said.

THE DEVIL GETTING RICH PINE AND OTHER COMBUSTIBLES.

We are of the opinion that his Satanic majesty is collecting much rich pine, a deal of coal oil and other readily combustible material to burn the profiteers who have been sinking their beaks into the vitals of the people since the World War. The latest is the sugar profiteers.

It is not to be understood that there is not already an abundance of hot coals in the infernal regions all the time, but we opine that Satan gives as his excuse for gathering the extra combustibles that the profiteers are so green that he feels that they will be a little slow in coming to crisp, and that their greenness consists in their being foolish enough to think that they can pull off what they have been doing and get by with it.

There are so many profiteers, that they may have to be put off in a corner and allowed to start under certain restrictions a little hell of their own. They have been raising hell for sometime here on earth.

DAILY HERALD CELEBRATES 39TH BIRTHDAY

The Biloxi-Gulfport Daily Herald celebrated its 39th birthday October 1. The edition contained 22 pages and included some highly interesting as well as historical matter. This paper serves two growing cities, cities that are competitors for business but the rivalry is healthy and there is no rancor or bitterness between them, otherwise one paper could not serve both. The paper's ability to serve both Biloxi and Gulfport is due partly to the wise business management of its owners, Geo. W. Wilkes & Sons, and to its astute and able editors, Geo. P. Money at Biloxi and S. G. Osolinach at Gulfport.

GOOD FOR JUDGE RICE.

We note from the press reports that Judge Greek L. Rice of Charleston at the recent term of his court at Coffeeville, sent four moonshiners to the penitentiary. Three of them were given each sentences of two years and six months while the fourth got a two year's sentence. This is good for Judge Rice. If the circuit judges throughout the State will give the moonshiners their dues—and their dues is a penitentiary sentence—the moonshining business will soon be in bankruptcy.

AND OKLAHOMA.

Regardless of the floggings in Oklahoma and of what is alleged against the Ku Klux, Gov. Walton shows what an ass a little man can make of himself in an important place where brains and experience are required. There can be no excuse for attempting to do a lawful thing in a lawless way. The people of no state in the Union will tolerate military rule in times of peace.

The president of the International Association of Women Preachers holds that "the time will come when housework can be disposed of in five hours, leaving time enough for every woman to have as wide a life as men and at the same time giving them more time for their children." Mothers who are giving twenty-four hours a day to their children will wonder where the extra time is to come from.—Ex.

This "five hour" house work will prove a revelation to the mothers who now give at least more than half their time to their homes. It sometimes appears that the "future woman" means no woman at all. Somebody will see.

One can break jail or get a divorce, or jerk away from a policeman, but nobody ever got away from himself.

—Abe Martin.

Five thousand bankers, in convention were assured Tuesday that everything would be all right in the best possible of worlds but for "socialism, communism, syndicalism and dangerous advocacy of government ownership."

Many of the five thousand bankers are intelligent gentlemen, and reading history they know this:

Radicalism becomes dangerous at the bottom only when prosperity and power become foolish at the top.—Arthur Brisbane.

In a little drama of Canticles the maiden declares, "They made me keeper of the vineyards, but mine own vineyard have I not kept." How like so many of the present day who are so busy doing duties "assigned" by well meaning institutions and organizations, that they are neglecting the sacred duties of home and that which they as parents owe the children committed to them. Too many, it appears, are zealous about showing their talent and ability to do well what is assigned them, that they have forgotten what God wants done in the home.

I do not bother by mind over the discussion as to the inerrancy of the Scriptures. I worry no more about higher criticism than I do about the chemical difference between whale oil and fusel oil. I believe, of course, the Bible to be divine, but whether divine or not its principles, if accepted and lived up to will make life more worth the living. They contribute more certainly than any other thing to the peace, quietude and good order of society.—Ex-Vice President Marshall.

Measured by the standard which is being applied throughout the length and breadth of the land, Grenada is prospering in a business way, and there is every assurance of greater development and a greatly increased citizenship.

GREECE.

We sailed from Alexandria, Egypt, to Athens, Greece, a distance of over six hundred miles. The Mediterranean was calm and the weather ideal. In the boat were a number of Americans, most of whom was connected with the Far East Relief Association. This society for many months fed thousands and thousands of starving folks; the fact is that if it had not been for this Association, many people would have perished. The city of Athens has something like seven thousand inhabitants. Most of the business houses are new and modern and the people seem to be somewhat progressive; however, the Greeks live in the past.

A VISIT TO THE ACROPOLIS.

As our guide carried us over this historic spot, telling us of the wonderful Greeks who at one time occupied this place, many of whom we might mention by name if we had space, there was every evidence that master minds had designed the temples and other buildings that had once stood there. But this is all in the past and it is now kept up by the Government principally because of its historical value. The Acropolis to us, however, was not as interesting as Mars Hill. You will recall immediately that it was on Mars Hill that the Apostle Paul preached. I cannot describe my feelings as I stood there and as I walked up and down the same series of steps that Paul travelled, and if you could see those steps you would agree that they had been there for some thousand years. From this point you have a wonderful view of the city of Athens that lies at the foot of the Acropolis and Mars Hill.

The Stadium, where the Greek games are played, has a seating capacity of over seventy thousand. The new Temple of Science and the new Museum are really great buildings and up to date in every respect. It was our privilege to attend a service in the city of Athens. The church building was very, very fine; inside were massive columns, hundreds of golden candlesticks and many beautiful little electric lights; altars which cost an immense amount of money; in fact everything had been done to beautify the building. To your right as you entered the door was a stand where you could buy cigars and cigarettes, and where you had to purchase a candle if you used one. Of course our crowd did not buy any candles, but as we stood there in the center of this building with hundreds of people standing all around us, as there were no chairs or pews in the auditorium, watching and listening to the ones who had the service in charge, you would see a leader appear from behind some altar sprinkling his water or incense all around the altars, reading some kind of junk that none of the audience could understand, appear and disappear many times with the same sort of foolishness. At intervals you could hear male voices, and they were highly trained voices, singing songs which we could not understand; then toward the close of the service the leader came to the center of the auditorium, climbed up on a little box that looked like a pigeon roost and read a lot of stuff from a ritual, none of which we could understand and all of which seemed to us like anything but real heart worship. As we left the building there were beggars by the score all round the front doors and along by the side of the church. These indescribably horrible looking creatures, with the appearance of having almost every disease, excited our sympathy very much. As we went away we thought this was religion but not Christianity.

The three priests who had charge of these services had long whiskers and long hair done up in a wad like a woman, and with their gowns on had the appearance of women. They looked as if they had never had a hair cut or a shave in their lives. The fact is I wanted to operate on their faces and heads while they operated on the people with their ritualistic performance. As I felt a bit at home when they passed the plates and took up collections and take it from me when the collection plates were in they were filled with money.

When we left Athens we went entirely across the country of Greece, passing through Servia. Our train spent three hours in a little town in Servia, and Rev. Norris Palmer, who was my pal on all the trip, went up town while our train was at the station, it being about nine o'clock at night. By actual count he found forty-nine saloons open and two small drug stores. That will give you an idea as to their drinking ability. Scarcely a train passes through this section without some passenger being robbed. We had no desire whatever to stop in all of Servia and do any visiting, so the next place we stopped was Venice, Italy.

This is a beautiful city on the water. In fact it is water and buildings and buildings and water and then water and buildings. When you step out of the door you step into a boat and when you get out of the boat you get back into the hotel. Many people rave over it being a beautiful city, but I am not so crazy about it—too much water for me, even a Baptist.

PARIS.

It is impossible to tell what one would like to about conditions in Paris. It is surely a wicked city, with its thousands of saloons and drinking shops. As our guide directed us over the city on every side you should see statues of heroes of wars. In fact they connect Napoleon's name with almost all of their statements about wars and rumors of wars. They have the most magnificent paintings of the leaders, kings and presidents of the allied forces of the late war.

We visited the battle fields of Verdun. Verdun a town of 14,000 people. We were told that only one house was left standing untouched by the shells in the late war. However, they are rebuilding the city in great style. There are three and a half miles of this city under the ground, which is only used in times of war. During the last war there were nearly two hundred thousand soldiers under this section at one time. We visited the Fort of Vaux, which was the theater of heroic fights during the war; the fort itself changed hands numbers of times. From here we were shown the battle section where the Americans lost 150,000 soldiers, and around this fort the Germans had 650,000 and the French 456,000. I say nothing of the scores of other sections pointed out to us from this commanding fort where thousands multiplied by thousands of men gave their lives. You can also see from here the sites where six towns were wiped off the face of the earth, three of the places where you would never dream there had ever been a town. The other three have been built back in a small way. The most beautiful cemetery in all of that country is American. We stopped and took a picture of this.

We also saw the "Monument of the Trenches of the Bayonets." This monument was erected by a Mr. Bond of Buffalo, N. Y., in memory of his son who was killed during the war. This is a concrete monument and is over the trenches of the bayonets. Here you see something that has never been known before in the history of the world. A trench filled with French soldiers was blown up by the Germans, closing the trench entirely and, leaving the points of the bayonets protruding above the ground; it remains just as they found it.

THE NATIONAL MUSEUM.

The National Museum is the greatest in the world. This is located in Paris and is the king's old palace. They have some really great paintings in there and the largest variety of paintings of any museum in the world. One who loves such things could spend weeks in this museum. They have a magnificent painting of Jesus on the Cross.

The only objectionable feature to me was that they never left anything off in the paintings. Of course they call this "fine art," and the artists of the world chime in singing the praises of such art, but I do not get their point of view. Another thing I found very objectionable in Paris was that often on the streets in the cafes you would see a beautiful French woman with a negro as black as tar.

BELGIUM.

We were in Brussels on Sunday and Monday. It is a city of over 900,000 people and is very beautiful and attractive with its many modern business houses and factories. To our utter surprise the saloons and drinking shops were wide open all day Sunday; never in our travels did we see as much drinking, and by eleven o'clock Sunday night some of the main streets of the city were roped off and thousands of the people were drinking and dancing and the bands were playing. Brussels shows no effects of the late struggle. These war-torn nations, Belgium, France, Germany and Italy could pay every cent of the indebtedness that now hangs over them within ten years with the money they spend for whiskey, wine and beer. Now this is not a statement given without having been investigated purposely. Why should America pay their bill and let them drink themselves to death? The average European spends nearly one hundred dollars per capita yearly on drinks and the above mentioned nations spend more than double that amount. These figures were given out by the Statistical Department.

HOLLAND.

Between Rotterdam and Amsterdam is the city of Hague where the great peace treaty was signed. These are three beautiful cities, surrounded by great farming districts. The country is prosperous and a fine spirit prevails among the people. The amusing feature of these cities is that their banks are "Dam Banks," their hotels "Dam Hotels," their post offices "Dam Post Offices," etc. Of course these words appear on the front of the buildings and they make you exclaim, "Some Dam Place." From Rotterdam we sailed to America on one of the great Holland

American liners.

While on our way home we had some experiences on the stormy and foggy days, spending ten days between Rotterdam and New York. At times nearly everybody on board was sick, especially in a storm on the English Channel where the old boat did some twisting and turning, jumping and bucking. I am happy to say I was not sick a minute on this voyage. In fact, I crossed the ocean twice, the Mediterranean Sea twice, the Irish Sea twice, the North Sea once, the Baltic Sea once, as well as a few other seas, and of all the seas that I did see and I did not see, I was sick only one time and that on the Baltic Sea. So you can see I was some fortunate on the Seas.

MISSISSIPPI STATE BOARD OF HEALTH

Bureau of Child Welfare Division of Mouth Hygiene.

TEMPORARY TEETH

If the family interest in baby's first tooth could be made a permanent interest in all of baby's teeth, there would be more happy and healthy children in the world than there are today.

Every child needs every tooth every day. There is only one way to preserve the temporary teeth and that is by taking care of them now. Every tiny cavity must be cleaned and filled at once.

Deep cavities in baby teeth are dangerous because they may reach the pulp. If the pulp is exposed it will die and then the tooth may be lost. Those years in which the child depends upon its temporary teeth for mastication span the period of most rapid growth. Keep the baby teeth clean and healthy.

Dead Nerves

By Rea Proctor McGee, D. D. S., M. D., Editor "Oral Hygiene"

We don't really mean dead nerves when we say it—what we do mean is a tooth pulp that has had its circulation stopped. A pulp is a little soft connective tissue with blood vessels and nerve fibres that is found inside the tooth and is necessary to the life of the tooth.

The pulps are very sensitive and delicate. If they are exposed they die; in fact they die sometimes when they are not exposed. Those that die without actual exposure have been irritated by tooth decay or improper use or injury, so that the pulp swells inside its bony case and chokes itself.

The tooth pulp could stand much more irritation if it had room to swell, but in its little canal inside the tooth, there is no room. As soon as the pulp is irritated enough to swell ever so little, the pressure stops the incoming of the arterial blood and the escape of the venous blood and then the circulation stops and decomposition begins.

It is very unfortunate to have the pulp in a tooth die.

It is true that many times the

JEFF BUSBY VISITS GRENADA.

Hon. Jeff Busby, of Houston, and congressman from this district, reached Grenada Sunday from Wilkerson, where he had been to attend the funeral of Hon. T. U. Sisson on Saturday, and remained over Monday. Mr. Busby was looking well. He has not yet had the opportunity to sit in the Congress while his term began March 4, last. Congress convenes December 3, but Mr. Busby states that he will leave a few days prior to the assembling. He expects to carry his family with him, a very proper thing to do.

Mr. Busby can be counted on to be cautious and to not needlessly rush into a proposition that he does not understand. He will very wisely counsel with older Democrats and more experienced legislators in aiding him in reaching conclusions about propositions before Congress, and when a congressman does that, he can be relied on for "safety first." Mr. Busby is studying national conditions and the country's economic relations, and the congressman who has good judgment and who is seeking all the information he can get, may be counted on to render faithful and acceptable service.

Next year is election time, and naturally Mr. Busby is looking over the political situation in the district, however, it is a safe bet that he will have no opposition for re-election.

NOTICE.

To the Baptist brotherhood of the Grenada County Baptist Churches:

Our State Mission Board has arranged with Salmon & Kimbrough to handle produce from any member of the Baptist Churches in this county, such as Corn, Peas, Peanuts, Syrup, Oats, Hay, Chickens, Eggs, Butter, or anything else that you are desirous of contributing to our denominational enterprises.

You will be given credit as an individual and your church credit as a church, for what you bring in. I hope that many of the members of our County Churches will comply with the above request and bring in their produce and get credit for same. Remember our Orphanage, our weak, struggling Mission Fields, our dead pulp in successfully removed and the canal artificially filled so that the tooth remains useful for a long period, but many pulpless teeth abscess. The cleansing and filling of a tooth canal is a very difficult and skillful operation. Why not take such good care of the teeth and mouth that you will not take chances on having infection from abscessed tooth?

By keeping the teeth clean and having small cavities filled at once, the long, tedious and sometimes painful operation can be avoided. Sound teeth in good position and with live healthy nerves do not give trouble; they do their work willingly.

Hospital and Schools are needing help and with your cooperation much good can be done.

Your friend,
W. E. FARR.

The Chinese Plan is Best Says Authority

"Four thousand years of civilization have taught the Chinese the most logical way to preserve their health," said a well-known physician, a few days ago.

"Instead of waiting until they get sick to call in the doctor they pay one a salary to keep them well. 'The trouble with most of us nowadays is that we go along disregarding our health, until, bang! one of these days, our system goes to sending in bills, and then we call in the physician and sometimes want him to undo in a few days what we have been doing to tear down our constitution for years.'

The old saying "a stitch in time saves nine" applies with full force to the maintenance of our health.

By stopping occasionally to recuperate our health, energy and vitality through rest, recreation, and the use of effective aids to health there is no doubt that we would add at least ten years to our life.

The effectiveness and merit of Allison's Wells water as a tonic and as a means of relieving that run-down, tired-out feeling which is often the result of malaria, or stomach, kidney, liver, or bladder troubles, is clearly shown by the hundreds of statements from prominent men and women, who have quick and easy relief and help through the consistent use of this wonderful water when they were suffering from any of these distressing ailments.

The low rates, especially for families, which prevail at the famous Mississippi watering place, known as Allison's Wells, makes a vacation possible for families of limited means; and the splendid service and cooking and excellent accommodations makes it an attractive place for those whose means enable them to command just what they want.

Dancing, golf and tennis are among the amusements which help to make your visit more pleasant.

More information, if you want it, in an attractive booklet, will be mailed on request.

JUST GOT OVER A COLD

Look out for kidney troubles and backache. Colds overtax the kidneys and often leave them weak. For weak kidneys—well, read what a Grenada man says:

A. D. Collins, grocer, 107-1st St., gave the following statement June 14, 1918: "Sometime ago I had a severe cold that settled on my kidneys. They became weak and disordered and my back ached by spells. I was generally run down and had a tired feeling while the backache lasted. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised and decided to get a box at the Second Class Drug Store. After using them, the trouble disappeared and I felt better in every way. I have never since had a return attack of kidney trouble."

On April 12, 1922, Mr. Collins added: "I have never had occasion to use Doan's Kidney Pills since I recommended them in 1918. They cured me and the cure has stood the test of years but I still praise and recommend Doan's to my friends."

STATE DEPARTMENT EDUCATION SAYS SCHOOLS SHOULD CO-OPERATE WITH COUNTY NEWSPAPERS.

By W. F. Bond, Supt.

Every teacher should use one period every two weeks for a general discussion in her room of one of the following topics:

- (1) Why every county should have a real, live, wide-awake newspaper.
- (2) News items that properly belong in a county paper.
- (3) Editorials. What should the editor write about in order to help the people most?
- (4) Advertisements.—legal and business. Why do people advertise?
- (5) Proceedings of Board of Supervisors. The questions of taxation, expense of running the county government, and so forth, should be discussed thoroughly.
- (6) What use should our school make of the paper?
- (7) How our school can help the editor make the paper mean more to the people generally.

COLD STORAGE OPEN FOR BUSINESS.

The Sentinel calls the attention of its readers to the advertisement of the Grenada Cold Storage which appears in this issue of the paper. This is a business that has just opened within the past few days and is one that should appeal to the housewives of Grenada. The plant is a model of cleanliness and sanitation and the refrigerating system is an ideal of perfection. The meats, fruits, vegetables, etc. are kept at an even temperature all the time which will insure their freshness.

The proprietors, Messrs. J. D. Moss, W. P. Moss and J. H. Jackson, are all men that are well-known in Grenada for their industry, integrity and attention to business. This paper feels sure that their venture into their new field of business will meet with the success it deserves.

YOU get a greater value in Goodyear Tires today than ever. As this chart shows, Goodyear Tire prices for years have been kept lower than the average prices for all commodities. Today, Goodyear Tires sell for 37% less than in 1920; 30% less than in 1914—though the tires have been vastly improved. This is a good time to buy Goodyears.

At Goodyear Service Station Dealers we sell and recommend the new Goodyear Cord with the famous All-Weather Tread and back them up with standard Goodyear Service.

Illinois Central System Third Largest Railroad in Freight Traffic

The productivity of the territory served by the Illinois Central System is strikingly reflected in the increased traffic handled by the road. Although the Illinois Central System (independently of the Central of Georgia, which is operated separately) ranks fourteenth among the railway systems of the country in mileage, last year it ranked third in volume of freight traffic handled. The freight traffic record of the Illinois Central System in 1922 was surpassed by the freight traffic records of only the Pennsylvania and New York Central, the railway systems ranking respectively first and second in mileage.

The Illinois Central System showed increases in both freight and passenger business for 1922. Passenger traffic (measured by the number of passengers carried one mile) actually decreased nearly 6 per cent for all of the Class I railroads in 1922 as compared with 1921, but the Illinois Central System registered an increase of two-tenths of 1 per cent. Freight traffic (measured by the number of tons of freight carried one mile) increased only 9% per cent for all of the Class I railroads in 1922 as compared with 1921, but the Illinois Central System registered an increase of 21 4/5 per cent.

These increases in both passenger and freight business made possible the Illinois Central System's unusually and favorably showing in total operating revenues for 1922 in the face of the fact that, on the average both passenger and freight rates were lower than in 1921.

Since the first of this year the traffic of the Illinois Central System, both passenger and freight, has increased, substantially over that handled in the corresponding period of last year. The number of passengers carried one mile by the Illinois Central System in the seven months ended July 31, 1923, was greater by 12 2-3 per cent than the passenger traffic handled in the first seven months of 1922. The number of tons of freight carried one mile by the Illinois Central System in the seven months ended July 31, 1923, was greater by 32 per cent than the freight traffic handled in the first seven months of 1922. Despite the growth of passenger and freight traffic in its territory, the Illinois Central System has kept abreast of the situation so well, through additions and improvements to its plant and through the splendid co-operation of its employees and patrons, that this year's unprecedented business has been handled with marked efficiency. Moreover, the Illinois Central System enters the fall and winter better prepared than ever before to discharge its obligations to the public.

This exceptional showing speaks for itself. It should be a source of gratification to the patrons as well as to the employees of the Illinois Central System. It represents joint effort and joint success. It is not alone a gain for our railroad; it is a splendid record for the territory our railroad serves.

Constructive criticism and suggestions are invited.

C. H. MARKHAM
President, Illinois Central System.
